

Using Classdojo on Xbox and Playstation

Class Dojo can be opened on Xbox and Playstation. There isn't an app that you can add to your consoles. Instead, you are going to have to use the built-in browsers that come on the two devices. Go to search and type in browser and select On Xbox, it is Microsoft Edge. On Playstation, it is the "www" browser. You will probably know how to find the browsers on your consoles, but if not, each one has a search function they can access on the home screen.

Once the browser has been opened:

1. Type in www.classdojo.com in the URL bar.
2. A prompt for Class Dojo will appear.
3. Type in your username and password email and password.
4. You can then navigate to the class you want and follow class story or school story as you would on another device.
5. Use controller to move the slides on the pdf down by placing cursor on the right of the screen holding down A button as you use the top left hand side toggle to move down.

If you have a keyboard your child can plug in, they will have a much easier time of navigation. Otherwise, keep using their controllers to click on, so they can open up PDFs and teaching films. You will also be able to join zooms.

This is just another way that we can think of to keep you updated with our remote learning. Smart TVs will work through their browser also.
